PAT CAMPBELL NEW PRESIDENT OF MINDEN FIGURE SKATING CLUB

Eighty five people were in attendance at the annual Figure Skating Banquet, held in St Paul's Anglican Church Wed. April 29th. President Monica Macnab welcomed all the mothers and thanked them for coming, also for helping contribute to the pot-luck supper which was convened by Audrey Northey. Mrs Macnab thanked everyone for their help during her term of president. She went on to review the past years activities given special mention of the Skating Carnival which was such a success due to our Pro Mr. Guy Gordon and the many willing hands of volunteers. Mrs. Betty Trumbull was congratulated for a job well done as Fund Raising Chairman.

Secretary Pat Campbell read the minutes of the last general meeting followed by the treasurers report gave by Audrey Northey.

Judy Trumbull and Janie Harvey both received gifts for selling the most tickets in our lucky draw. The badges had not arrived due to the mail strike in Montreal, so the members will receive them as soon as they arrive.

Mr. Gordon was then introduced by the President and in his remarks said he will be holding inter-club competitions next winter and he donated the first trophy for the Senior Girl champion. Mrs. Macnab presented Mr. Gordon with a record and thanked him very much for his interest and enthusiasm in our club.

The new officers were then elected for the 70-71 season: President Pat Campbell, Vice-President Sybil Hope, Secretary June Beeney, Treasurer Audrey Northey, Publicity Ruth Greir, Fund Raising Chairman Betty Trumble.

HYLAND CREST HOME AUXILIARY HELD REGULAR MEETING RECENTLY

The regular meeting of the Auxiliary took place in the Craft Room of Hyland Crest on Monday, April 27. There were 13 members present and Mrs. Bursey, Superintendant, attended also.

A new record player has been purchased for the residents and it is of excellent quality. It is a stereo, four speed. One of which is 16 rpm's, the speed at which "talking books" are recorded.

Mrs. Bursey has obtained some talking books from various sources and it is felt that some of the residents, whose eye sight prohibits much reading, will get much enjoyment from these. We have also received a fine donation of records from Mr. Robt. Herlihey. Donations of records, especially older types of songs, would always be appreciated.

A garden party for the residents, is being planned for the future, possibly the 24th of June.

Mrs. Annie Jones of West Guilford is the membership chairman and all persons who are wishing to join the auxiliary may pay their membership fees to her. This is a worth while group and more members are always needed.

The regular annual meeting of the staff and auxiliary members of Homes for the Aged in zone 7 will be held June 17th at Collingwood. Members from Hyland Crest will be in attendance.

The next regular monthly meeting of the auxiliary will be held at the Home on Monday, May 25th, at 8 p.m.

HERE AND THERE

with Fenwick Finch

This time last week when I saw that bird and didn't know what it was I was certainly in the dark. This week, I may not be any brighter concerning birds as a whole but, when it comes to

"Scarlet Tanagers" I'm near an expert thanks to the following people.

Wally Cook spent some time with me showing the bird in question and many others which were in the two magnificent books printed by the National Geographic Society.

I got 'phone calls from Mrs. Laura Kirkwood, Mrs. Etta Brentnell, Cec. Yearwood, John Klockhoff, C. M. Irwin, Mrs. Kay Lunham, Janet Payne, and Vern Graham.

These people are all skilled in the recognition of birds and I imagine it could be quite an interesting and time-consuming study.

Amongst other things I learned that most of our birds have been moving further North in the past five years and birds from the West have been slowly moving down our way.

Just to show you how far away I am from knowledge in the bird world — Vern Graham told me there were still some 288 species to look over.

Thanks again to everyone for the interest they have shown.

There is an old saying that if you keep a thing long enough it will be in style again. I'm in like Flynn in the suit department. The suit I have with the wide legs and cuff is the "in" thing now.

The latest in shoes is the new "dirty and scuffed" look. Here again I fit right into the picture — my shoes are all this way. My good friend "Buzz" may be in trouble because his shoes are always so shiny you need sun glasses on when he enters the scene.

The final meeting of the "Writer's Guild" in Haliburton under the leadership of Tom Farmer is Monday night, May 25th. This group has had quite an interesting winter and they hope to expand more in the coming season.

The story of my life is a little like — just always missing the boat. On May the 5th, the Kinvale Inn in Kinmount (Betty and Jake VanLier) gave the public free coffee in honour of "Thank you Canada" for the Dutch Liberation during the second war.

Pat Harrington telephoned me this information, knowing full well that it would upset me because I had missed a free coffee.

There is one other chap in the same boat only worse. He stopped for coffee, found he only had seven cents loose in his pocket and, not wanting to break a "twenty" he passed the coffee. Too bad "Sam", to think the coffee was in your grasp, "free" and you missed it. Ah well, that's life.

With the warm summer weather on it's way and the resulting odours that are going to be wafted around the main street resulting from the debris in the alleys it is to be hoped something will be done to clean up these places so the tourists may get a good impression of our business section.

Drive carefully so that you can be around to appreciate us — even if the air is tainted, better to smell that, than nothing.

BAN THE CRACKER ??

Setting off firecrackers on the 24th of May is a tradition close to the hearts of many Canadians. And it isn't surprising that tempers flare when mention is made of banning them.

"I enjoyed firecrackers when I was young and I don't think we should take them away from children today," was the angry reaction of many last year, to the Ontario Safety League recommendation calling for a ban on firecrackers — those that produce noise only.

At almost the same time an Ontario newspaper was comparing firecrackers to "blasting caps" and Molotov Cocktails" and supporting the League whole heartedly in its recommendation that people replace firecrackers with organized family and community fireworks displays.

The fact is, says the League, firecracker vandalism and injuries have declined significantly in Canada in the last few years. There hasn't been a death involving firecrackers for at least 10 years. Compared to the problems plaguing the United States, ours are minor.

Unlike Canada, the United States has no federal control over the manufacture of fireworks. This has resulted in contradictory State legislation and widespread, illicit manufacture and bootlegging. Even in States which restrict fireworks to those considered "safe and sane", dangerous articles such as cherry bombs and sky rockets still reach the market. And every year reports are heard of American children and adults losing hands, feet, sight, hearing and even their lives from the use of such devices, many of which are homemade.

In an attempt to solve their complex problem, the American National Fire Prevention Association and the National Safety Council have taken a hard line policy and called for universal state legislation against the use of firecrackers, with the exception of community displays. They have had only partial success, however, and Americans appear to have rejected this ban, where it exists, in much the same way they rejected prohibition of alcohol.

Canada, on the other hand, maintains strict regulatory control over manufacturing, importation and sale of all fireworks. And items such as cherry bombs, cannon crackers and sky rockets have been banned here for years. This policy, coupled with public education, has been a major factor in keeping this country relatively free of serious problems.

In order to keep up the good record this Victoria Day, play it safe, and abide by a few of these rules:

Never allow young children to have firecrackers under any circumstances. If you let older children have them, teach them how to use them safely.

Never hold a lighted firecracker in the hand, or light one indoors. Don't play jokes with them and never throw them at a person, animal or moving vehicle. Never explode firecrackers inside a bottle or any other container. In fact, keep them away from public places altogether — use your back yard.

Firecrackers can be safe if used properly, and by someone with experience. Play it safe and have a good 24th of May weekend.

SIR SANFORD LOOKS AT LABOR-MANAGEMENT FIELD

Students entering the business administration program at Sir Sanford Fleming College this September will be the first to have access to a new third-year option dealing with labor-management relations.

To be offered in 1972, the option already has the endorsement of local labor and management groups, and there is a possibility some subjects may be offered before that date through the College's continuing education division.

"The program will take an objective look at wage and salary administration, automation, labor economics and history, collective bargaining, industrial sociology and psychology, and recruitment," explained Sir Sanford's Business Division Chairman Gordon Dagg.

Rather than taking sides, the subjects will qualify graduates to work either for labor organizations or management, conducting wage surveys and other economic research projects, preparing for and taking part in negotiations, and carrying out a number of other related duties.

Presently Sir Sanford's business administration program offers three other third-year options, including computer systems, financial management and marketing, as well as the three year tourism and transportation program.

The first two years consist of a broad spectrum of business and liberal studies, giving students a good grounding in the specialization.

In addition to formal examinations, students are assessed on their participation in seminars, and on preparation of essays, case studies and projects.

The general admission requirement for the three-year program is grade 12 of a five-year secondary school program with an overall average of 60 per cent in English and history in Grade 12 and mathematics in grades 11 and 12.

Mature applicants and those from a four-year grade 12 program are considered on an individual basis.

Set the pace and it trolls all day. The Evinrude 9½ is a fisherman's best friend.

Fishermen talk about their outboards almost as much as they do about the "one that got away". Evinrude is the name you keep hearing.

The Evinrude 9½ is the largest selling outboard motor in the world. It's an all round outboard with 20 m.p.h. speeds to get you to your fishing quickly. Eight tilt-up positions let you troll all day through weeds and shallows. A trolling adjustment maintains the exact speed you want, quietly. Its low silhouette lets you fish over this outboard, not around it.

The 9½ is just one of the Evinrude fishing fleet. See them all including 1½, 4, 6, 9½, 18 and 25 hp., at your Evinrude dealer's.

Evinrude: Still the first in outboards, still setting the pace for all the rest.

FISHIN' FACTS

BY BOB HAWTHORNE

THE UNDERHAND FLIP CAST

The underhand flip cast is probably the most difficult cast to master. The timing is most critical, but once mastered it can be very useful when fishing in tight places. It is most commonly used when stream fishing from a bank where it is sometimes impractical to use the conventional overhead cast because of tree branches and other obstructions behind you.

The important thing to remember when learning the underhand flip is that the success of the cast depends entirely on the tip action of your spinning rod. You must let the tip of the rod do the work for you, otherwise it is impossible to execute this cast correctly.

Start out by holding the rod in front of you in the horizontal position. The next step is most important. Using wrist action only, bring the rod tip straight up. Then, without any hesitation, force the rod tip straight down. This will create a bend in the rod necessary to supply the power to propel the lure forward when you release the line. The important thing to remember is that you must bring the rod tip up before you start the downward motion. The final step is to learn when to release the line from your fingertip. The line should be released as soon as the bend in the tip of the rod you have just created starts its upward motion. If you release the line too soon, the lure will go too high. If you release the line too late, the lure will go too low. Trial and error will soon solve this problem.

DOLLARS AND GOOD SENSE

by William J. Martin

This column is a regular feature prepared by the Family Financial Counseling Service of the Avco Delta Corp., P.O. Box 2820, London, Ontario. All questions submitted to the above address will be answered in print or by mail. Names will not be used in print. However, all questions should be accompanied by a complete name and address.

Dear Mr. Martin:

I'm a businessman who travels rather extensively for my company. Often I've noticed other men who always seem to take great pride in displaying an accordion-fold of credit cards. I've often wondered how they managed to keep their records and expense sheets straight with a dozen or so credit cards to keep track of. I know I could never do it.

I have no particular problem Mr. Martin, but I thought I would add my two cents worth to this credit card controversy. I have a suggestion concerning their use — or rather indiscriminate use — and perhaps if more people followed this principle, they might stay out of financial trouble.

I have two credit cards in my possession. One is a well-known card which is acceptable in most every place where credit cards are accepted. I use it almost exclusively. However, even as acceptable as it generally is, there are some hotels and restaurants that don't accept this particular card. In that case I carry what I call a spare credit card, or reserve. It's a credit card that is also generally recognized and accepted. I use it whenever the other one isn't acceptable. And it's very rare when neither of them are accepted.

Using a credit card is just like using cash. You have to be careful or you'll wind up overspending.

Mr. C. B.

Thank you very much, Mr. B., for your comments about the credit card. Your plan sounds like a sound one and perhaps some of us will take your advice. As you suggest, you should use it just as you would cash, keeping an accurate record of your spending and making certain that you spend no more than you had intended to spend if you had used cash.

For many other people, however, I would recommend against the use of the credit card. Some people just cannot adjust to the fact that though the credit card will just about purchase anything, anytime and anywhere, the bill must be paid when it comes in. By that time they've probably gotten themselves deep in trouble.

by Lorna Rogers

Gerald Pratley, CBC radio's 'man on the aisle' celebrated 22 years of broadcasting in April. Each Saturday, Pratley At The Movies features interviews with film personalities, sound-track segments, film music, and criticism on the current cinema crop. His enthusiasm for, and involvement with the film industry has won him an international reputation, in fact, he is Canada's leading film authority. But despite his justly-deserved reputation, he remains a soft-spoken and friendly person with a sincere concern for the development of a national film industry. Right now he's attending the Cannes Film Festival (one of three he visits a year) where he'll tape interviews for future programs.

While Pratley headed for France, fellow broadcaster Bruno Gerussi jets to Osaka where he'll be on assignment at Expo 70 for two weeks, beginning May 18. While there he'll interview tourists at the fair, Canadian residents in Japan, Canadian Pavilion officials and the like. These will be fed back to Toronto and incorporated into his weekday morning program which will be hosted by Ken Cavanaugh in Bruno's absence.

Klondike! The very name spells adventure and romance. One of those caught up under its spell was writer-broadcaster Pierre Berton who wrote a book chronicling the life and death of the last great Alaska-Yukon gold rush. To him the Klondike, odyssey represented a sort of pilgrim's progress in modern dress. Berton stars as host and guide on a five part radio adaptation of his book, Klondike, beginning May 18 on Theatre 10:30.

One of the world's foremost interpreters of the symphonies of Beethoven celebrates his 85th birthday this month. CBC Tuesday Night pays tribute to the great German conductor Otto Klemperer, May 19, in which he is interviewed at his home in Zurich by Peter Heyworth, music correspondent for the London Observer. Differing assessments of the man will be given by several of his music colleagues, and there will also be a recording of Klemperer conducting Beethoven's Ninth Symphony.

The long-running series Matinee (heard weekday mornings and afternoons) have several programs of interest slated for the week of May 18. They indicate why Matinee is so popular with listeners of all ages and sexes, not just the distaff side. Monday photographer John Reeves talks to the aspiring photographer: and warnings of an impending summer heroin epidemic from Dr. Judianne Densen-Gerber, clinical director of Odyssey House, New York. Tuesday-The Recent Fiction series looks at the work of American novelist Bernard Malamud. Wednesday-a documentary on the conflicts between mothers and daughters. And, on Friday-the first of a two-part program on kitsch, the world of bad taste.
